

All Tahsis residents are asked to conserve water until further notice. The south reservoir levels are falling due to a water system pump failure. Updates will be provided when available.

